

CMX Provides Update

Toronto, ON. October 5th, 2018. Chilean Metals Inc. (“Chilean Metals,” “CMX” or the “Company”)(TSX.V:CMX, OTCQB: CMETF, SSE:CMX, MILA:CMX, FRA: IVV1, BER : IVV1). On August 27th Investment Industry Regulatory Organization of Canada (“IIROC”) halted the trading in the shares of Chilean Metals on the TSXV at the request of the TSXV due to “Pending Review of Compliance with Exchange Requirements”.

As disclosed in the Company’s previous news releases, the Company has been trying to seek Exchange approval for its previous private placement. The Company’s clarifying news release of July 9, 2018 was issued at the behest of the Exchange [and received approval of the Exchange as to its contents] and the Company has been trying to obtain Exchange approval since then. While the Company acknowledges it did not file a Form 4B prior to closing as required by Exchange policies, its failure to file was the result of an inadvertent error. When notified the Company quickly complied and filed the appropriate paperwork and all additional Exchange requests for documentation and information, which were more detailed and lengthy than required in usual financing situations.

The Exchange punishment for failing to file the private placement properly is to remove voting rights of our investors. This is not a consequence the Company believe is merited in this circumstance, and as noted in our press release of August 24, 2018, we appealed the Exchange’s decision to the BC Securities Commission. Further, the Exchange has prevented us from closing further private placements, which has constrained our ability to raise equity financing and carry on our business. Somewhat ironically, the Exchange approved various other transactions in late July (a shares for debt and property transaction) so it seems somewhat incongruous that these were approved after the Exchange apparently had so many concerns with our private placement error.

A hearing date on the Company’s appeal of the Exchange decision to disenfranchise our shareholders will commence on November 13, 2018. At that time in addition to the appeal of the Exchange decision the Company will also seek a stay of the Exchange decision to halt trading in Chilean Metals stock.

“We regret the Exchange decision to halt trading. We have an honest fundamental difference of opinion that we have tried over the last months to work out. Now given no common ground was available we took the decision to the BC Securities Commission. We believe this trading halt is unnecessary and indeed harmful to the Company and its shareholders. We believe the process of appeal will prove this point.” commented Terry Lynch, Chilean CEO.

In additional news, the Company would like to advise its shareholders that it will be holding its annual general meeting on November 23, 2018 for all registered holders of common shares with a Record Date of October 22, 2018. As part of our preparation for an orderly shareholder meeting, the Board has approved an Advance Notice Policy. The full body of the policy is attached for reference to shareholders. The purpose of the policy is to ensure shareholders have adequate time and information to review any new directors. The policy is common in public companies today and is considered good corporate governance to have such a policy in place. The policy will allow shareholders time to evaluate information and so that unexpected Board nominations do not unreasonably impact shareholders' ability to make informed voting decisions.
